

A guide to your rates

Rates assessment information

2025/26

How rates work

Rates are our largest source of income, making up about half of our total funding this year.

Other funding comes from Government grants (particularly for roads), fees and charges, dividends from Council-owned companies, and borrowing.

Rates are a property tax, so are paid regardless of how much the ratepayer uses Council services. However, some rates (particularly those for water and wastewater) are charged only to properties in areas where we provide those services. If your property is outside these areas, you won't be charged these rates.

We set rates for the year beginning 1 July and these apply for the next 12 months, until the end of the following June. Any changes you make to your property through the year (such as demolition or new building) won't affect your rates until the following 1 July.

We'll send you invoices for your rates, payable in quarterly instalments. These will include all your rates except any excess water charges (which are invoiced separately, if required). Invoices will arrive either by mail or by email.

Signing up to get your rates bill by email is easy: visit ccc.govt.nz/ratesinvoice

This guide provides part of your rates assessment information. The invoice for your first instalment will include the specific rates assessment information for your property.

Rates we charge

We also collect rates on behalf of Environment Canterbury (ECan), which sets its own rates. ECan rates are listed separately on our invoices. All rates charges include GST. Most properties will pay several different types of rates. The types we charge are described below.

When we say SUIP we mean a separately used or inhabited part of a property. Most properties only have one SUIP but some have several, such as a shopping mall or a house with a self-contained flat.

Value-based general rate

We charge value-based general rates to all properties, as a percentage of each property's capital value. Business properties pay 2.22 times the standard rate. Remote rural properties pay 0.75 times the standard rate (that is, they receive a 25% discount). Properties classified as city vacant pay 4.523 times the standard general rate.

This pays for activities that aren't specifically funded from other sources.

Uniform Annual General Charge (UAGC)

We charge this as a fixed amount per SUIP.

This is another type of general rate, so it pays for activities that aren't specifically funded from other sources.

Land drainage

We charge for land drainage as a percentage of a property's capital value. It's charged to all rating units in areas that benefit from our stormwater and flood protection work.

This pays for the operating and asset renewal costs of our stormwater and flood protection activities.

Sewerage

We charge sewerage rates as a percentage of a property's capital value. It's charged to all properties in areas serviced by our sewerage network.

This pays for the operation, maintenance and replacements for our wastewater collection, treatment and disposal systems.

Water supply

We charge water supply rates as a percentage of a property's capital value. It's charged to all properties in areas serviced by our water supply network. Properties that aren't connected (including vacant sections) are charged at half the connected rate.

This pays for the operation, maintenance and replacements for our water supply network.

Other water charges

We charge separate water rates for:

- Restricted supply (a fixed charge per unit supplied, for properties that receive a restricted supply).
- Fire connection (a fixed charge per connection, for connected properties).
- Excess supply commercial (calculated on the volume of excess use by commercial properties).
- Excess supply residential (calculated on the volume of excess use by residential properties).

These separate rates also pay for our water supply network, alongside the main water supply rate.

Waste minimisation

We charge the waste minimisation rate as a fixed charge per SUIP, on a similar basis to the UAGC mentioned above. Properties outside our kerbside collection area are charged at a lower rate.

Central city properties do not pay this rate as a separate waste regime is used.

The waste minimisation rate pays for all costs related to recycling and organics – your yellow and green wheelie bins.

Active travel

We charge the active travel rate as a fixed charge per SUIP, on the same basis as the UAGC mentioned above.

This pays for part of the operating costs of our Active Travel Programme (including pedestrian networks and cycleways).

Special heritage (Arts Centre)

This rate pays for Council's $5.5 million grant to the Arts Centre. It's charged to all properties as a percentage of capital value, and we'll stop charging it on 30 June 2032.

Central City Business Association (CCBA)

The rate pays for Council's $270,000 grant to the CCBA to support their activities. It's only charged to central city business properties with a land value greater than or equal to $90,000 and is calculated as a fixed charge per property.

Excess Water Supply Targeted Rate

Residential

Households may be liable for excess water rates, at a charge of $1.47 per cubic metre of water used above the 900 litre daily allowance per SUIP.

This rate is charged to all metered residential properties where the meter records usage for a single property. The rate will also be charged if the meter records usage for multiple properties where there's a special agreement specifying which ratepayer is responsible for payment.

Commercial

Some properties may be liable for excess water rates, at a charge of $1.47 per cubic metre of excess water used above the daily allowance paid for under the Water Supply Targeted Rate, with a daily minimum allowance for each property of 0.6986 cubic metres. These include all properties that receive a commercial water supply, plus motels, rest homes, and boarding houses.

Excess consumption is assessed and invoiced (if required) each time a property's water meter is read. We read water meters through the year and separate invoices are due for payment on the Thursday of the eighth week following the invoice/assessment date.

Rates reductions

Some people's rates can be reduced by a rebate, postponement or remission.

Rebate

For low income earners and SuperGold card holders, the Government will pay up to $805 of your rates, depending on your total rates, income and number of dependents. To qualify, you must be the ratepayer and living at the address on 1 July. You need to complete a new application form each year (if you received a rebate last year, a new form has been included with this guide).

Remission

A rates remission is a discount available to certain types of properties or in certain situations, including:

- Community organisations – a remission may be available where the ratepayer is a non-profit organisation we think provides a significant public good to our community.
- Māori freehold land – remission may be available where there is multiple ownership, no formal occupation rights, and limited economic benefit from the land.
- Penalties – a remission of a penalty for late payment may be available where there's been genuine error or oversight – but only once every two years, and not where a payment has been deliberately withheld. We allow a remission only if all outstanding rates have been paid.

For other rates remissions visit

Postponement

We may also postpone rates charges in some circumstances where the ratepayer is experiencing significant financial hardship. The rates will still be charged, but you do not need to pay them for the period of postponement. We'll add a charge to postponed amounts each year to cover administration and financial costs but will not charge any late payments penalties. The postponement will create a growing debt against your property, which you will eventually have to repay. Applicants will need to provide full details of their financial position and a copy of identification, such as a driver licence or passport. Postponement applies to your main place of residence only. All amounts have to be paid if your circumstances change.

Early payment of rates in full

We assess rates for every property in our district each year.

If you want to pay your property rates in one sum, you can. Just pay the full amount to clear rates for the year by the second invoice and you won't incur a late payment penalty for missing the due date for the first invoice.

Late payment penalties

Rates (including excess water rates) need to be paid by the due date stated on your invoice.

When we receive rates payments, we apply them to the oldest debts first.

Unpaid amounts incur penalties as follows (depending on how long it takes you to pay):

- Late payment penalty

A charge of 10% is applied to any part of the current instalment not paid by the due date shown (refer to the ‘When to pay’ section of this guide).

- Arrears penalty

Arrears penalties are added twice a year to any amount of rates (including penalties) that remain unpaid from previous rating years:

- First arrears penalty – a charge of 10% will be added on 1 October each year.
- Second arrears penalty – a charge of 10% will be added on 1 April each year.

Difficulty paying?

Please contact us if financial difficulty is making it hard to pay your rates. You may qualify for our postponement scheme or one of the other rates relief schemes available. We'll also work with you on a payment schedule to help you avoid late payment charges.

Have we made a mistake?

If you think your rates invoice is incorrect, please contact us but continue to pay as invoiced. We'll back-date any corrections so that you don't pay more than you should.
